Dear Parents/Carers

On Friday 7th May school will be taking part in the NSPCC Number Day. This day is designed not only to promote number in schools but also to spread awareness of the NSPCC and the role they play in society today.

As part of the day children will take part in a variety of activities linked to number. These may include games and activities such as counting, songs, treasure hunts, playing cards or dominoes or timed sporting activities such as how many star jumps can we do in 30 seconds? The NSPCC are also supporting the 'Captain Tom 100 Challenge' which ties in nicely with Number Day. This challenge will take place nationally this bank holiday weekend but we will challenge all the children across school to complete a 100 challenge in different ways during Number Day.

On this day, we would also like to invite children to come to school dressed as something number related, this could be something creative such as a dice, playing cards or dominoes costumes or you could keep it simple with clothing which contains a number such as a football shirt.

If your child does not normally attend Nursery on Fridays, I will put some ideas of what you could do to join in number day at home under the 'Nursery-home learning' tabs of the Greenfield Primary School website.

Thank you for your continued support and enjoy your Bank Holiday weekend.

Yours sincerely

Rebecca Mubiru
Nursery Manager
